

Below is what we delivered last season (2013) Please note: We deliver three days a week. The produce in brackets are items we delivered on separate days, the crop may have just matured or was winding down, OR we could have run out of time that day. With that being said, we make sure every shareholder gets their share of the harvest.

Week one: spinach, pea tendrils – volunteer crop from 2012, mustard greens – makes yummy pesto, peppergrass- great in sandwiches and adds interest to salads, radish and tops – delicious soup recipe and spring raab. Fruit: Rhubarb

Week two: mustard greens, peppergrass, endive, leaf lettuce, garlic scapes, and dill greens, snow peas/sugar snap peas. Fruit: honeyberries & rhubarb

Week three: pea tendrils – new crop, endive, leaf lettuce, garlic scapes, dill greens, red russian kale, onion bulbs with greens. Fruit: honeyberries & strawberries

Week four: endive, garlic scapes, onion bulbs, broccoli, potatoes, garlic, scallions. Fruit: honeyberries, strawberries & saskatoon berries.

Week five: onions, potatoes, garlic, scallions, red leaf lettuce, celery, cauliflower. Fruit: honeyberries, strawberries & saskatoon berries.

Week six: green radish, red russian kale, potatoes, beets, (peppergrass, leaf lettuce, snow peas, onion, arugula, sugar snap peas, broccoli, red leaf lettuce, cauliflower, beans) Fruit (strawberry, raspberry, cherries, saskatoon berries)

Week seven: peppergrass, green radish, red russian kale, arugula, potatoes, shelling peas, swiss chard (scallions, beans, broad beans) Fruit: Raspberry, (strawberry, cherries, saskatoon berries)

Week eight: peppergrass, green radish, arugula, potatoes, beans, radish, swiss chard (spinach, red russian kale, scallions, broad beans, Italian dandelion, salad bag) Fruit: Raspberry, Rhubarb, (Strawberry)

Week nine: potatoes, beans, cilantro, (spring raab, leaf lettuce, red russian kale, onion, broccoli, dill, splicing bean, Italian dandelion) Fruit: raspberry, (strawberries)

Week ten: arugula, potatoes, beans, swiss chard, broad bean, leeks, giant kale, (broccoli, slicing beans, kohlrabi, green cabbage, dill) Fruit: strawberries

Week eleven: peppergrass, radishes, broccoli, potatoes, garlic, scallions, beans, cilantro, cabbage, (spring raab, endive, broad bean, giant kale)

Week twelve: mustard greens, spring raab, lettuce, red russian kale, potatoes, beans, beets, swiss chard, corn (broccoli, broad beans, cilantro)

Week thirteen: mustard greens, leaf lettuce, red russian kale, onion, potatoes, bull blood beets, broad beans, corn, (zucchini, peppers, swiss chard, cilantro, slicing beans, kohlrabi)

Week fourteen: spinach, radishes', leaf lettuce, potatoes, scallions, beets, swiss chard, leak, pumpkin, tomatoes, jar of relish or jam sample.

Week fifteen: mustard greens, red russian kale, onions, potatoes, garlic, giant kale, cabbage, pumpkin, swiss chard (peppergrass, radishes, spring raab, lettuce, dill, arugula, jar of beets, kohlrabi)

One thing that is missing from the list in 2013 is the carrots. We planted three times without a crop, the fourth time we got tiny carrots and dug them up just before the all the snow came, the harvest was too late for the CSA delivery. So I pickled them, what a job!